After eighteen months of coping with breast cancer and conventional treatment, a PET scan found two problem areas in my lung. Faced with a very invasive lung biopsy, I was discouraged and overwhelmed.

Through the recommendation of a friend, I sought out a homeopathic educational consult with Joette. Within three weeks of using homeopathy, another PET scan found one of the problem areas in the lung had decreased in size. Three months later, a PET scan indicated the other area of concern was "totally unremarkable."

Quite amazing, considering my conventional doctor said there was nothing they could give me that would help.

Homeopathy worked silently, deeply and swiftly, to bring my body back to health. The experience left me with a feeling of awed astonishment at the wonder of this extraordinary medicine. I am so thankful to have found homeopathy and so thankful to Joettte for her expert insight and inspiration.
