My son, Michael, was diagnosed with Crohn's disease 6 years ago at 16. We were told by the specialist that there was no cure and no known cause and that Mike would have to take medication for the rest of his life.

They told us he would eventually undergo surgery to remove part of his digestive tract. Scared and confused, my wife (a nurse) and I sought out Joette's tutelage on a recommendation from a friend.

She got us started on homeopathy and encouraged us to start a diet to include as many organic and whole foods as possible, as well as a really good morning drink which we dubbed "Vita Drink".

This increased Mike's energy and well being. We followed Joette's teachings to the letter and two months later, Mike was no longer on medication, (which, by the way, had devastating side effects) with no further episodes.

We continue to make regular visits to the doctor for blood tests and 6 years later, still no sign of Crohns. What I personally like about Joette was that she set us on a clear and precise path. She gave us hope and support that there was a better way.

We followed this advice with the blessings of our doctor who mentioned to us that it won't hurt, but it most certainly won't have any positive effect. They couldn't have been more wrong. Thank you, Joette.
