

Be the Healer in Your Home with Homeopathy

As parents, our greatest responsibility is to nourish and protect our children. We must defend them like mother lionesses. Let me point out that “mother” is a term I use for anyone who has loving charge over another. The same holds true for the “mothers” of friends or pets.

Here are my strategies to become the healer in your home with homeopathy:

1. Always protect your thinking. When you're told that the only way to address an ear infection or fever is with an antibiotic, learn enough homeopathy not only to prove otherwise to yourself but to offer the same success to others.

2. Create distance between your chosen method of mothering and those who criticize your choice. This doesn't mean that you purge family and friends. Instead, saturate yourself with enough homeopathic mastery to protect your family from negative influences.

3. Learn basic homeopathy strategies and stay connected with others who do the same. That may mean joining a homeopathy study group or starting your own. (See the free monthly E-newsletter and blog) Once you've mastered some of the basics, don't stop there. Homeopathy has an undeniable compendium of medical literature from around the world from which millions of mothers have drawn their skills.

4. Use the naysayer as motivation. Remember ... the best retribution is a life well-lived. Go out and cure a dog of an ear infection, treat a neighbor who was just stung by a bee, help your spouse get over that insomnia and anxiety. Arm yourself with just enough homeopathy to get the ball rolling in your life so that others can't help but eventually recognize your skill.

5. Employ pig-headed willpower. Commit to staying on track. Being a "good little patient" will not serve you or your family. Keep yourself stimulated with knowledge and information. Utilize learning techniques by using your time cleverly. Download classes and study via CDs. They're a first-rate way to exploit otherwise wasted time in your busy day. Constant learning and reaffirming will hold you to your convictions.

Hold your head high

As you become a grandparent or great-grandparent, my hope for you is that you will be able to look back at your life with a satisfying inner smile that speaks of what was set right by your hands. Hold your head high and declare: "I raised my family. I healed my family. I cured friends and neighbors because I used my God-given intelligence and committed time to a life worth living."

Then, when you see an ad for Pepsi Cola or a billboard for another flu vaccine, you can smile knowing that your power was in your resolute knowledge.

Interested in learning more practical, proven protocols for women's health? Well, you are in luck! Order my popular course, Feminopathy: How you Can Correct Female Ailments Using Save, Inexpensive and Effective Homeopathy:
<https://feminopathy.joettecalabrese.com>