homeopathy is…

Homeopathy does not mean home remedies. It's actually a branch of medicine that was used in the US by physicians and is still used in major hospitals, clinics and by doctors throughout the world. The difference between conventional meds and homeopathic is in the way the substances are made pharmaceutically.

Conventional meds are left in their gross form while homeopathic remedies are highly diluted so that the toxic aspects of the substance are removed. This is why homeopathic remedies do not have side effects and conventional drugs of commerce do. Side effects or no side effects. You choose.