Homeopathy Is…

Homeopathy can turn the day around for someone who is sick. All it takes is a well chosen homeopathic remedy. Take Bella, for example. She came home from 4th grade feeling woozy. Within minutes of entering the warmth of her house, she began vomiting and it was down right relentless. She was weakened, cold and frightened. Her mom had recently taken a seminar on using homeopathy to treat ailments at home. She quickly paged through her new book and found the remedy that most closely resembled Bella's symptoms. She gave her Arsenicum album and within 15 minutes, Bella fell asleep on the bathroom floor. When she woke an hour later, the vomiting had passed and now she just wanted something to drink. Although the nausea was still present, she and her mom were grateful for the end of the violent response. The nausea passed an hour later after her mom gave her another dose of Arsenicum album. "Wow", thought Bella's mom, "this worked like a charm". She was convinced. Never again did she consider anything but homeopathy for her family's ills. It was homeopathy for Bella's family from then on. Homeopathy. The intelligent medicine. No side effects, low cost and, of course, effective.
