

Joette Says...

Men can maximize their output and minimize their downtime. Homeopathy has the ability to set your compass on course with success. This is not an empty promise, because homeopathy, a natural medical model, stimulates the body's ability to bring it to its best economy.

Downtime is unproductive, whether it be a simple cold that requires you to sleep more or an injury that keeps you out of your game. Even psychological issues can force the brain to become, not only unproductive, but irritable or uncreative.

The remedies homeopathy employs are without side effects, so they're safe and have stood the test of time. They go after the imbalances by stimulating the body's ability to bring about health. This is because the promise behind homeopathy's laws of nature includes the law that the body is always in search of equilibrium. We experience illness when that equilibrium is stalled or suppressed. The stalling process is often a result of the use of meds. They kill the messenger instead of allowing the body's natural process to complete. Homeopathy, on the other hand, uses the process to its advantage and stimulates the healing process that is a natural direction.

Homeopathic remedies can be self prescribed for simple injuries and illnesses of common origin or can be addressed with a homeopathic consultant for fine tuning the areas of greater depth. In either case, homeopathy's focus and reputation is to resolve the problem, not cover it up. Sounds like a plan.

The information provided in this article is for educational purposes only and may not be construed as medical advice. The reader is encouraged to make independent inquiries and to seek the advice of a licensed healthcare provider.