

Can You Raise Your Family Without Drugs?

I can't imagine what my life would be like without homeopathy. It has changed my life, and the lives of my entire family, too.

Years ago, I thought antibiotics were appropriate simply because my doctor said they were. I fell for immunotherapy and my allergies were driven to a deeper, more entrenched state. I firmly believed the falsehood that drugs, meds and medicaments were irrefutably valuable.

To think of the poor choices I made all of those years irritates me to this day. But, instead of getting caught up with my mistakes, let me share with you how I overcame them.

(By the way, if you've made similar blunders, you can overcome them, too!)

Instead of using drugs, my foremost medicines have long been homeopathy and nutrient dense foods. Thanks to this bold resolution, my family and I took a colossal leap into robust health. And we've never turned back.

I never doled out a single drug to my family; not a Tylenol capsule, not a spoonful of Benadryl and no antibiotics.

Zip, nada, zilch!

Does this sound impossible?

Well, it would be impossible without the correct tools, knowledge and motivation.

That's why I have organized a FREE webinar called The 5 Most Common Mistakes Parents Make in Their Children's Health.

Over the years, my clients and students have shared with me their mistakes and I've noted what the most popular errors have been. Many of them are made repeatedly by both parents and grandparents alike.

Some of these 5 blunders are grave, but others are minor.

Recognizing our mistakes is one thing – correcting them is another.

How did I correct my blunders? By using intelligent methods coupled with pig-headed determination.

And that's what you can use, too. A knowledgeable mom can aptly deal with much of what faces her family's health. There are methods you can employ today that will help you safely uproot illness instead of just covering it up with drugs. It takes perseverance and persistence, but really, what is more important than the health of our families?

I know you have the motivation already, so let me provide you with the correct tools and knowledge that took me decades to "get".

I'll get you started with my Free Webinar, The 5 Most Common Mistakes Parents Make in Their Children's Health this Tuesday, April 10 at 8PM EST.

Let's right the wrongs together.

I hope to see you there!

Note: If you can't make my webinar, sign up anyway and you'll receive instructions on how to hear/view the webinar later.
