I recently had an intense emotional shock and was left feeling withdrawn and unable to confront visual reminders of the event. I was overly sensitive with low back weakness and weepiness.

I took Nat Mur 200C and immediately felt a shift in the integrity of my being. Emotionally, I was filled with a sense of balance and strength. Physically, I experienced integrity in my spine and structure. Mentally, the fear and confusion lifted. I felt stability and balance and the ability to confront the situation from a completely different awareness.

I am grateful for your love and friendship. J. Smith, San
