I’d like to share a story about our dog. Since I have many years of experience in using homeopathy, I was particularly grateful for that knowledge when our dog, Aesa recently became ill. I had taken her to the vet who told me that Aesa needed to be given heart worm drugs. I gave her 1 dose of heart worm and she was ok. 2 months passed…not used to giving regular meds to the dog, I then remembered and gave it to her again.

By early afternoon, I found her collapsed on the floor with her heart racing, mouth open, an odd glare to her eyes and quite anxious. Aesa is a tenacious creature when it comes to sniffing out chocolate, so I believe she found some earlier in the day. Not knowing whether it was the drug or chocolate to blame I certainly knew that in either case, Nux vomica was the best remedy.
Upon finding her in this ghastly state, I immediately administered Nux vomica 200 and 2nd dose about 15 minutes later. Shortly after, she looked and acted more like herself and her demeanor became calmer. I actually thought we were going to lose her, but instead, she lay on the floor and wagged her tail. Soon after that she stood up and came to me in her usual affectionate manner. That was the last I saw of this. I’m still in awe of how quickly the remedy righted her. It took only a few hours. No more chocolate for Aesa!
