

Rachel Coleman – Columbus, Ohio

Has anyone thanked you this week for the depth and breadth of your web resources on this treasure of a subject?

In case no one counts me because I have lurked without signing up for a class, consider this my gratitude deposit...parents sharing before the internet is how i was gifted with knowledge of homeopathy, and it took a couple decades to make it less inflammatory to say so in Ohio. Self driven learners are my favorites, so your web presence is a blessing to pass on until we can gather a human contact circle in the neighborhood. Count me, on a too-quiet day, as an active fan and a grateful self-help advocate.
